CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 20.—A morning paper publishes an elaborate statement, holding that Mornamheld was not in the Aquia Creek (Va.) rothery, but that he and his 'pals.' who are believed to be hiding about this city, recently did another job equally structors that will soon be developed.

It is conceded that Morganiseld and hearty are pariners, and were together at Washington, Cumberland, and other places, but that Morganiseld's gang was doing one job while Searcy's gang was doing another. It was claimed that this is the reason the authorities contested the action of Manager Fogg yeasterday in trying to attach the $1,200 for the Adams Express Company. All the authorities and detectives refuse to disclore the other Job.

A staff correspondent of the Washington Times, writing from Cumberland, Md., thus describes the difficulties in securing a photograph of Searcy; contusion followed the adjournment of rourt, and the two misseagers nurried to convenient places to get another look at Searcy. Murray stationed himself beside a large tree of, the pavement odiside, and Crutchfield took up his position a few yards further on. There was some delay before the prisoner was removed, and during that time he glanced in an amused way at the kodak fields, who were hovering about, trying to get another snap shot of him.

Seems as if everybody in town wanted to put my picture in their album, said Searcy. "Don't see why they will persecute a man so, and especially an inhocent one."

NEW ORLEANS, LA., Oct. 20.—Governor McKinley arrived this evening from Onlo, accompanied by his private secretary. Secretary of State S. M. Taylor, Attorney-General J. K. Richards, of Onlo, and a large number of newspaper men. He was met at the dividing line between Louisiana and Mississippi by a representative committee of citizens, and on his arrival here was taken in a carriage to the Royal Hotel, where he spent a greater part of the atternoon preparing his speech. During the evening he drove over the city under the escort of a committee, and was delighted at his reception. Governor McKinley addressed an andience of about 10,000 to-night at the Auditorium Club, noted for the scene of many pugilistic battles. The place was eighorately decorated with bunting, the national colors, flowers, shrubbery and sugars, and the Governor spoke from the historic ring in which Fitzsimmons laid Hail low. The audience embraced all classes of the community, from the highest and wealthlest to the lowest and poorest in station, of both colors and sexes, and of every shade of political belief, Democrats principally predominating in number. There was great enthusiasm over his remarks, which he delivered from a carefully prepared copy. The speech was a general review of economic and tariff subjects from the carliest days of the Republic, a forceful argument in favor of the principle of protection, a flerce assault on the Wilson bill, and a general appeal to Louisiana and the South to tear asunder their present fetters and embrace the cause, of which the speaker is the most shining aposite.

Governor McKinley was given a supper to-night at the Royal Hotel, and at midnight went on a special train to Charleston, W. Va., where he speake on Monday.

A Tremendous Run on the "Discretionary Pools" in Pittsburg.

PITTSBURG, PA. Oct. 28.—Owing to the public exposure by the newspapers of the plans and methods of the "discretionary pools," oberating in Pittsburg, panic has seized on the people who have invested their money in them. Exciting scenes have been enacted all day at these places. The bickest run of the day was made on the public grain and stock exchange on wood street. From the time the shop opened there has been a surprising rush of terribed people, intent on withdrawing their deposits, or giving notice of withdrawal. The managers of these "blind pools" have begun to realize that they are standing on the brink of a volcano. One of them quit the business to-day, and others are preparing to follow his example. Huns are on at all of the big establishments, and the prospects are that several will go to the wall.

Thousands of Democrats.

POCAHONTAS, VA. Oct. 20.—Special.
Senator John W. Daniel and "Cyclone Jim" Marshall spoke here to-nicht to an audience of three thousand people. The Democrats and Republicans view with each other in their efforts to do honor to the distinguished speakers. It was a field day for the Democrats of the Ninth district, and the cry of "Walker is Dead," is heard from both Democrats and Republicans.

The speakers, Senator Daniel and Mr. Marshall, had been in attendance at a Democratic barbecue at Honaker, Russell county, where they spoke to twenty-five hundred people. The saturassatic Democratic of Pocahontas met them at Graham with a special train, and brought them to Pocahontas.

Both of the speakers were in their happiest mood, and uttered to the people words of wisdom and eloquence.

It is predicted that Pocahontas, although a Republican stronghold, will give Morison the largest vote ever polied for a Democratic candidate at this place.
